

AAS Computer Graphics and Design

At the completion of this degree program, students will be able to do the following:

1. Student will be able to identify major artistic movements.
2. Student will be to identify the work of major graphic design artists.
3. Student will use research projects to develop a visual language.
4. Student will demonstrate a solid understanding of the elements and principles of design.
5. Student will use appropriate software to demonstrate knowledge of artistic and design concepts.
6. Student will demonstrate sufficient knowledge in basic computer graphics software and hardware.
7. Student will be able to communicate thoughts, ideas and information using appropriate vocabulary for the target audience.
8. Student will use proper sentence structure, spelling, punctuation and grammar in all written communication.
9. Student will produce a college-level portfolio.
10. Student will complete projects based on specific content.
11. Student will participate in class critiques.
12. Student will demonstrate sufficient reasoning ability to analyze and interpret information to solve problems.