

Transfer Credit Appeals

Initial evaluation and awarding of transfer credit is conducted by the College Registrar. Following that determination, students are able to appeal the credits awarded or denied directly to the College Registrar. In the event that after the appeal to the College Registrar the student believes that they were not properly awarded credit earned at other institutions, consistent with NCCC transfer policy, they may appeal to the Vice President for Academic Affairs. Final determination of accepting or denial of transfer credits rests with that office.
