Help the college plan for the Fall 2021 semester

Even though the spring semester is just underway, the college is already looking ahead to fall! We need your input to help guide our decisions about how to deliver classes and ensure the health and safety of the college community.

What concerns would you have about resuming face-to-face classes? Would you prefer to remain remote? What about a combination of both online and in-person classes?

Please take a minute to complete our Student Survey on Course Delivery for Fall 2021.

While we hope to continue to see COVID-19 rates decline and vaccination rates increase, our planning efforts will require flexibility and options in case we don't see our public health situation significantly improve by fall.

Tune in for North Country Live! in February, March, April

The college has launched a new series of North Country Live! programming for the spring semester.

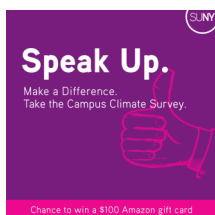

Interested in learning about the history of the communities where our campuses are located? What are the biggest threats to water quality in the Adirondacks? How about a beginner birding or gardening session? These are just a few of the programs we're offering this semester, and they're open to students, staff and the public.

Visit www.nccc.edu/live to find out more and to register. The series takes place on Zoom on select Thursday evenings in the months of February, March and April.

You can also view archived sessions, including Tom McGrath's session this week (right) on the fascinating history of our Ticonderoga site.

Take the Campus Climate Survey. You could win a $100 gift card.

Students are speaking out, and you can, too. On Monday, Feb. 15, the SUNY Campus Climate Survey will launch.

The goal of the survey is to gather information about the incidence of sexual and interpersonal violence, and knowledge of related policies and resources on campus.

The survey will come to your email from survey@suny.edu.

Students who complete the survey will be eligible for one of 150 $100 Amazon e-gift cards.
